Bring or mention this brochure during your first visit to the library with your baby and get a free book to keep. You can also sign up for a library card.

Parents and/or caregivers need to stay with their children during storytimes.

All three library systems provide the free books. At Kenton County, books are donated by the Friends of KCPL.

Read to your baby

BCPL
Boone County Public Library

Why Read to Your Baby?

"Reading aloud to young children is not only one of the best activities to stimulate language and cognitive skills, it also builds motivation, curiosity, and memory. Reading aloud sets the stage for school readiness. It can promote emergent literacy and language development. It helps children become familiar with books and accustomed to listening and focusing. Reading books aloud can also help build a child's vocabulary. Read to your baby and do so regularly. Open a book and you'll open doors for future successes."

Colleen D. Multari, LMSW, director of early learning at The Early Years Institute, Plainview, NY

Reading together

every day builds strong minds and nurturing relationships. When sharing books with very young children, take time to enjoy the moment. You can point to pictures and help your baby learn names of things. Reading to your child should be a pleasant experience. The most important thing is to interact and have fun together.

Come to the Library

to find great books that are just right for your child. Librarians prepare entertaining, age-appropriate programs for children from birth through age six. Storytimes are a great way to develop your child's early literacy skills while meeting and playing with other families.
