BETTY LEE DANIELS

Our Library is her Legacy

Quite simply, without Betty Lee Daniels, Campbell County Public Library wouldn't exist.

Mrs. Daniels, who passed away Jan. 1 at age 93, led a petition drive in 1978 that resulted in what is now a four-branch Library system whose doors have swung open more than 10 million times for visitors with more than 18 million items borrowed since 1990. "That's a lot of usage for a county of 90,000 people," said director JC Morgan. "Betty and many people like her saw that future a long time ago."

7,784!

Another record year for Drop Your Drawers

Newport branch regular Jean Ritze was an assistant buyer for a department store for many years, so the Library's Drop Your Drawers campaign gives her an opportunity to use her unique skill set for a great cause. "I enjoy the hunt of finding the best deal," she said.

That spirit, along with Mrs. Ritze's and the whole community's generosity, made the third annual Drop Your Drawers campaign a resounding success. A total of 7,784 pair of underwear were donated in November and December to replenish Campbell County public elementary schools' emergency supplies. In 2015, more than 5,000 pair were collected and in 2016, it was 7,125 pair.

STAFF PICKS: FAVORITE SELF-HELP/INSTRUCTIONAL BOOK

Tiny Beautiful Things by Cheryl Strayed

This book takes entries from the popular "Dear Sugar" advice column on The Rumpus and adds new content to create a moving and insightful guide for how to react to the curveballs life throws us, while giving a glimpse of Cheryl Strayed's fascinating life. From the author of Wild. — Nina Frondorf, children's services programmer, Newport

What Are You Hungry For? by Deepak Chopra

After promoting a message of linking weight control to personal fulfillment for 30 years, the author focuses on the problem of weight control in America with new concepts.

— Dawna Haupt, Library accountant

Being Mortal by Atul Gawande

Most people do not want to dwell on the act of dying, but as people live longer, more of us need to confront the choices that come with age and mortality. Gawande discusses current approaches to end of life care, and how things may change and improve with a better understanding of the needs of the elderly.

— Diane Katz, adult outreach services librarian

The Enneagram by Helen Palmer

The author teaches intuition, psychology and distinctions between points on the Enneagram, a mix of personality structures that recognizes nine observable points of view. For beginners to the Enneagram, I'd recommend The Enneagram Made Easy: Discover the 9 Types of People by Renee Baron and Elizabeth Wagele.

— Kiki Dreyer Burke, public relations manager

Illusions: The Adventures of a Reluctant Messiah by Richard Bach

I still quote from the Messiah's Handbook that is itself often quoted in the book. It exceeded all of my high expectations that were set with Jonathan Livingston Seagull.

— JC Morgan, director

Brain Droppings by George Carlin

A fun read overall, but the chapter "If I Were In Charge of the Networks" alone will make anyone speak and write more intelligently. Carlin had famously challenged network censorship with his "seven words you can't say on TV," but in this 1997 book he expresses his own low tolerance for bad grammar and "popular usage." And he does so, as you might expect, quite colorfully.

— Jim Pleshinger, public relations specialist

In both this past campaign and 2016, Mrs. Ritze bought extra pair toward the end of the campaign to make sure her Newport Branch met and exceeded its goals. For years, Mrs. Ritze has bought sweatpants and jackets to donate to local schools for kids in need, so Drop Your Drawers was another way for her to help kids and the community. "I could write a check but I would rather get what kids actually need," she said.

Thanks so much to Mrs. Ritze, donors and the community organizations whose support provided generous donations.

Campbell County was the last county in Northern Kentucky to pass a countywide library tax. Mrs. Daniels was part of the first petition drive to establish the system in 1969. It was not successful, so she started a volunteer library in Fort Thomas in 1971. She then arranged for a countywide "demonstration" library using state funds in 1976.

In November 1977, the library narrowly lost a referendum to establish countywide service. Mrs. Daniels, however, was not to be deterred. By 1978, she was hitting the streets with another petition drive.

In leading the effort, Mrs. Daniels inspired all library supporters to give a little more. "Those who have signed the petition should encourage one more person to sign the petition now to assure that Campbell County residents will have public library service," she wrote in an op-ed in 1978. "Don't wait The time is NOW!"

The result was 12,000 signatures — 10,500 were needed — which were presented to the Fiscal Court in September 1978. "We owe her a great debt for all of the hard work that went into that effort," Mr. Morgan said.

Mrs. Daniels was the first Library Board of Trustees president, serving from 1978-85. She Betty Daniels, with her husband Dr. Charles Daniels, who passed away in May 2017.

compiled a history of the Library's formative years and her handprints on the Library could fill volumes as her legacy continues to grow.

"When I spoke to Betty a couple of months ago, she was so excited that Alexandria would be getting library service," Mr. Morgan said. "I'm sorry that she didn't live to see the doors open. I hope that everyone will appreciate what Betty did to make it possible."

Mrs. Daniels' husband, Dr. Charles Daniels, passed away last May. She is survived by two sons, three daughters, 10 grandchildren, nine great grandchildren and a grateful Library system and its patrons.

Some of Betty Daniels' awards and honors

- Member, Kentucky Libraries Trustees, Friends of Kentucky Libraries and the Garden Club of Fort Thomas;
- Named one of The Cincinnati Enquirer's Women of the Year, 1986;
- Received the Outstanding Service to Public Libraries award and Outstanding Woman of Northern Kentucky;
- Served on many boards including the Kentucky Library Network Inc., the St. Luke Community Foundation, the Health Care Alliance of Greater Cincinnati and the State Preservation Review.
