SUMMER
READING
2018

READING
ROCKS

Are you a rock star? If you read books, magazines or ebooks or listen to audio books or take part in one or more of the Library's many events, then you definitely rock in our book, so to speak. As always, throughout June and July, Library patrons of all ages who register for Summer Reading can win prizes. See how on Page 2.

Summer Reading Kickoff
Saturday, June 2
@ all four branches.

Library again earns top KPLA rating of 'exemplary'

Campbell County Public Library earned the highest ranking of exemplary for the third consecutive survey period, based on Kentucky Public Library Association (KPLA) standards.

Thirty-seven libraries participated in the most recent state standards surveys. Libraries must meet specific criteria in areas such as administration, collections, services, facilities and technology to achieve rankings of essential, enhanced or exemplary over a two-year survey period.

CCPL also was rated exemplary in 2014 and 2016.

We suggest

STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS: IDEAL SUMMER READS

The Diviners by Libba Bray

Evie O'Neill is sent to live with her occult-loving Uncle in New York after she causes a scandal in 1926. When murders start happening, following a strange pattern, can Evie's strange abilities help solve the case?

— Cassie Fischer, information services, Carrico/Fort Thomas

Passenger by Alexandra Bracken

Do not confuse this book with the movie Passengers with Jennifer Lawrence and Chris Pratt. This is a delightful book about music, antiquities, time travel, family secrets and treachery. Try the audio version.

— Chantelle Bentley Phillips, Newport Branch manager & assistant director

Turtles All the Way Down

by John Green

This is different from other John Green books: A fun, lighthearted mystery.

— Danielle Heiert, patron services, Cold Spring
