Janet
Shipp

Our source of VOLUN-CHEER

Janet Shipp has always loved libraries. She even played "library" with her sister growing up, pretending to use those old stamps to check out books to each other. Today, you really can't say she's playing – but it's just as fun.

After retiring from Fidelity Investments in Covington on Jan. 15 of this year, the Bellevue resident began as a volunteer at the Newport Branch five days later.

"When I was a kid growing up on the east side of Cincinnati, the librarians were my friends and took care of me," Janet said. "I always thought, man, I should have been a librarian."

FOR E W O R D

We suggest

STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS: BINGE-WORTHY TV SERIES

Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt

It is totally addictive. The plot is insane, but still treats sensitive topics (such as PTSD and many hot-button social issues) with respect. And Titus steals the show!

– Lisa Kuhn, patron services assistant, Newport

Gotham

This show did not deserve to end so soon. It is phenomenal.

– Jessica Holmes, branch services assistant, Alexandria

Parks and Recreation

My absolute favorite show of all time. Ron Swanson: "I like saying 'no'. It lowers their enthusiasm." – Danielle Turner, branch services assistant, Alexandria

Friends

Could it BE any more binge-worthy?

– Danielle Heiert, patron services assistant, Cold Spring

Gilmore Girls

Binge on some snappy dialogue.

– Nina Frondorf, children's librarian, Newport

Parenthood

Parenthood is warm, funny and incredibly touching.

– Amy Carroll, adult programming coordinator

Star Trek original series

Laugh if you will at the cardboard boulders, rotary tech instruments, William Shatner's overacting (in fairness, everyone overacted back then) and scripts that made use of whatever props and duds happened to be handy at the studio. The original series' stories, ideas and characters were groundbreaking and hold up best among all things Trek.

NKU professor Cullick joins library board

One of the first things Jonathan Cullick did when he and his wife, Cheryl, moved to Bellevue in 2002 was find the nearest library – the Newport branch, in this case – and get their library cards. Over the past 17 years, they have participated in many library programs and even have a Little Library in their front yard.

Now Dr. Cullick, an English professor at Northern Kentucky University, is the newest member of the Campbell County Public Library Board of Trustees. He was selected to fill the unexpired term of Carla Landon, who resigned in July. Dr. Cullick was sworn in by Fiscal Court Judge/Executive Steve Penderly on Nov. 7. His term will expire Sept. 30, 2021.

"Jon has a wealth of administration experience and a passion for promoting reading and literacy," said CCPL Director JC Morgan. "We know he will be a tireless leader and advocate for the library."

Dr. Cullick, who chaired the NKU English department from 2009-2013, was named College Teacher of the Year by the Kentucky Council of Teachers in 2019. He utilized the Newport and Carrico/Fort Thomas study rooms to complete his most recent scholarly work, Mockingbird Grows Up: Re-Reading Harper Lee Since Watchman with colleague Cheli Reutter, to be published in January 2020.

The current board also includes: Cathy Howard, president; Tracy Smith, vice president; Paul Johnson, treasurer; and Christie Fillhardt, secretary. The board meets at 5:30 pm on the third Wednesday each month. All board meetings are open to the public with no need to register. Upcoming meetings are: Dec. 18, at Newport; and Jan. 15, at Carrico/Fort Thomas.

Volunteer, continued from the cover

Janet, who cares for her father, didn't want to commit to a job, but volunteering two days a week provides her flexibility. "When I have to take my dad to a doctor's appointment, it's OK, they still like me," she said.

They do indeed like Janet. Lily Herald, Newport patron services supervisor, says Janet's one of the best volunteers she has seen and even helps out on inventory. After a career at an investment firm, keeping track of things is a special talent for her. "I've loved inventory," she said. "I think it's fun."

As a regular Newport patron, Janet says she always "hit the new releases kind of hard," especially mysteries, but hadn't gotten on board with e-readers. Her husband is tech savvy, but she wasn't. "There was a lull after I got an e-reader. I wasn't good about checking out books and using the app," she said. But since she started volunteering at the library, she got up to speed and now considers herself a digital person. "I like all kinds of books but I like the convenience of the e-reader," she said.

For Janet, volunteering at the library is a perfect fit for her. "I love to be here at the library," she said. "It's a place that has fantastic associations from when I was a kid and everyone here is kind and thoughtful. It's just a lovely place of community and I just love seeing it."

Interested in volunteering? Check out our current opportunities at www.cc-pl.org/volunteer-opportunities.

PARADES!

It's a Campbell County Public Library tradition: marching in northern Kentucky parades! This year was no exception as we marched in the Bellevue/Dayton and Crestview Memorial Day parades, the Fort Thomas Fourth of July parade and the Alexandria Horse Show & Fair parade (above).

JOLLY THURSDAYS & Tower Tuesdays

Jolly Thursdays at A.J. Jolly Park in Alexandria celebrated its fifth year of free summer family fun. Above, kids get to meet new friends from the Kentucky Reptile Zoo. This past summer, the fun expanded with the debut of Tower Tuesdays at Tower Park in Fort Thomas. At right, youngsters meet Who-Dey and other mascots.

CAMPING WITH THE LIBRARY

Library patrons and staffers went camping at A.J. Jolly Park in Alexandria for a fun-filled fall weekend that included a cookout and ghost stories (above) and a brisk morning yoga workout (left). Camping with the Library was a big success and we're looking forward to more camp out fun in 2020.

We always want you to come to the library. But more and more, the library is coming to you!

In 2019 we presented a variety of programs outside of our four branches. We look forward to more outreach events in 2020, and we'll be sure to see you there!

In September, the library came to local parks to present Play, Explore Build, in which we supplied building materials and children took it from there. At right, a youngster shows off the dragon she built.
