Art After Hours Brings 17 Artists to Fort Thomas

Campbell County Public Library's annual Art After Hours is back with 17 regional artists on Friday, July 29 from 7-9 pm.

Hosted at the Carrico/Fort Thomas Branch, guests will enjoy live tunes from Cincinnati-based blues musician Ricky Nye; fried goodness from Latonia's Moonrise Doughnuts; and floral arrangements from Fort Thomas Florist & Greenhouses.

Each artist will be on hand to discuss their work, which varies in medium from woodwork to painting to pottery. Select items will be available for purchase. One of those artists is Anna Afshar, who said that she loves having conversations about her work with customers.

"Every time I paint something I always have a conversation, a story," Afshar said. "In creating every painting, there is a story."

Presented artists include Shamon Davidson, Everage King, Deb Marvin, Anna Afshar, Bill Dirkes, Rae Mack, Bruce Crippen, Virginia Martinez, Timothy Lancaster, Dave Klocke, Dr. Jerry Warner, Renee Harris, Heloise Bessé, Tina Tepe, Billy Tacket, Allyson Burke Coffren and Kori Deller.

Visit www.cc-pl.org/art-after-hours for examples of the artists' work or pick up a brochure at any of the library's branches.

Event Details

What: Art After Hours

When: 7-9 pm Friday, July 29

Where: Carrico/Fort Thomas Branch (1000 Highland Ave, Fort Thomas, KY 41075)

Tiny Art Show

New this year is the Tiny Art Show. Patrons can submit a miniature artwork on a 3-by-3-inch canvas. Their creativity may pay off: The canvases will be displayed by age group—adults, teens and children—at the Carrico/Fort Thomas Branch during Art After Hours. Event attendees will cast their votes for Best Overall and Best for Summer Reading Theme in each age category. Winners will receive a Michael’s gift card.

Those interested should register for a Take & Make bag or one of four in-person programs and submit their creation by 5 pm Tuesday, July 26.
