STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS: FAVORITE BOOKS WITH A "TWIST" ENDING

Stolen* by Lucy Christopher

I really enjoy this book because it is a well-written story that has an unexpected twist at the end. I really like this because the twist is something that you don't see coming, but it is also very believable and not far-fetched to the point where the ending doesn't make sense.

— Alyssa Maier, information services assistant, Newport Branch

That is Not a Good Idea!* by Mo Willems

I love to read this book to children. Both children and adults think they know exactly what is going to happen in the book to the fox and the goose but are always surprised by how the book actually ends.

— Carol Freytag, outreach services coordinator

The Thursday Murder Club* by Richard Osman

If you like the show Only Murders in the Building, this is the book for you. It is witty, funny, and I truly did not see the end coming.

— Dakota Guilkey, information services assistant, Cold Spring Branch

Old Yeller* by Frank Gipson

Old Yeller was the hero, and at the time, I didn't think heroes could die. I learned two things: A new puppy doesn't replace an old dog and, if the story is about an animal, check the ending before you read it.

— Toni Reinke, library page, Newport Branch

Friends of the Library

The Friends of the Library is a nonprofit that advocates for our services, collection, patrons and staff. The Friends help CCPL by volunteering for a number of tasks, from hosting library events to assisting staff with special projects.

If you've visited any of our branches, you've likely noticed their presence in more ways than one. Each branch includes a small Friends area where they sell books and other items. They also host book sales throughout the year at the Newport Branch, which feature titles from an array of genres at incredible prices.

Money raised through the sales help partially fund several programs and items, including the library's Birthday Club, Spotlight Series, Signature Series, parades, murals and the Book Bus. Upcoming book sale dates for 2022 include:

- 9 am-5 pm Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 8-10
- 9 am-noon Thursday, Sept. 22
- 9 am-noon Thursday, Oct. 27
- 9 am-5 pm Thursday-Saturday, Nov. 10-12

Earlier this spring, the Friends awarded the $1,500 Jean Nagel Lillie scholarship, which helps fund library personnel working toward furthering their education, to three staff members: Julia Manning, Chay Rust and Molly Walker.

To learn more about the Friends, visit www.cc-pl.org/friends.

Experience Science!, continued from the cover

Science in Play2Go is a traveling exhibit from the Louisville-based Kentucky Science Center that aims to help children build lifelong learning skills through the power of dramatic play. The exhibit runs from Saturday, Sept. 3 to Sunday, Nov. 27 at the Cold Spring Branch.

Play2Go is designed with elements of the Kentucky Science Center's permanent exhibit to allow families to experience its creative spirit. No road trip required! Patrons should come ready to have a whole lot of creative fun—all while strengthening science, technology, engineering, art and math (STEAM) skills.

STATIONS INCLUDE:

Blue Blocks: Build anything from a tower to a bridge or even a castle with large blue foam blocks. Children can practice building simple to complex structures while strengthening collaboration and communication skills as they imagine, design and invent an endless variety of shape-inspired structures.

Shapes & Stuff Store: Enjoy a math-rich shopping experience in a store full of “stuff.” Shopping for shapes encourages inventiveness and flexibility as children explore everything from shape attributes and pattern recognition to geometric and numerical skill building.

Ball Fall: Use a large Velcro wall and easy to manipulate chutes and tunnels to create pathways, falls and ramps for small colorful rubber balls. This station helps young children explore concepts such as cause and effect, patterns and prediction.

Build-Your-Own Rollercoaster: Explore physics and engineering principles. Rollercoaster sections of different sizes and shapes can be manipulated in countless designs and configurations. This experience offers opportunities for experimentation and testing.

Light Bright: Make colorful patterns on a giant Light Bright, a childhood favorite that includes colored pegs that light up when inserted into the board. From complex patterns to outlining words and phrases, Light Bright invites planning and predicting skills while designing and developing patterns and shapes.

We'll kick off the exhibit with a celebration on Saturday, Sept. 3. Enjoy a fun-filled day of snacks, music, learning and more. The festivities begin at 10 am with a science-themed dance party featuring tunes from favorites like Sid the Science Kid, Number Blocks and Ada Twist, Scientist. Other events include a Blippi watch party at 11 am. Take a lunch break from noon-1:30 pm and grab some pizza or chicken strips for lunch. Other snacks and drinks will be provided. From 2-4 pm, flex your creativity by playing with LEGOs.

Are you an educator? Call 859-781-6166 or email campbellcounty@kysciencecenter.org to book a field trip or arrange additional programming.

Science in Play2Go was created to reach audiences outside of the Kentucky Science Center's flagship location. Families can experiment, innovate, engineer and play together this fall during its stop at the library. Get ready to have fun with science! For more information, visit www.cc-pl.org/play2go.

Library Card Sign-Up Month

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month. The library is celebrating in style by rolling out new library card designs; there's no better time to get your very own. After all, having fun isn't hard when you have a library card!

Along with granting full access to our large collection of books across genres and age ranges, library cards also allow patrons to use our computers, internet and countless resources. You can also check out ebooks, audiobooks and online resources at home via our digital collection. Can't make it to a physical branch anytime soon? Apply for a digital patron card.

If you want a new design, your card can be replaced for a $1 fee. Is your card lost or worn out? Swing by a branch for a free replacement. On your way out, make sure to grab an "I Love the Library" car sticker to help us spread the word in your neighborhood during Library Card Sign-Up Month! For more information, visit www.cc-pl.org/library-card.

Virtual Author Talks

Grab a snack, get cozy and join the library in conversations with acclaimed authors from the comfort of your own home.

The library now hosts 2-3 online bestselling-author events per month. The events are live with interactive Q&A sessions where audiences can ask questions directly to the author. Books and authors cover a wide range of genres and topics.

If you can't make it to the live discussion, don't fret: All talks are recorded for viewers to access on-demand.

SEPTEMBER EVENTS INCLUDE:

2 pm Thursday, Sept. 8 - Thrivers: Surprising Reasons Why Some Kids Struggle and Others Thrive by Dr. Michele Borba, bestselling author and expert in child development.

2 pm Tuesday, Sept. 20 - Hear from prolific British-American writer, journalist and consummate adventurer Simon Winchester, author of more than 30 titles, including The Professor and the Madman, Pacific, and The Perfectionists.

4 pm Tuesday, Sept. 27 - Pulitzer Prize finalist and PEN/Faulkner Award winner Hernan Diaz, author of In the Distance and Trust, will discuss his work during this talk.

View the complete schedule and register for your spot at www.cc-pl.org/virtual-author-talks.

Book Care Packages

Our Book Care Package service is expanding! Adults can now request packages for all their research and entertainment needs.

All ages, from newborn to adults, can request packages based on their needs and interests. Whether you need help with homework, are reading for fun or want to have an at-home story time, the library has you covered!

The process is simple: Place a request a week in advance using the online form and library staff will pull up to 10 books and audio materials personalized just for you. Our updated submission form includes questions about your desired writing styles, genre preferences and more.

Choose your favorite branch and you will be notified once your package is ready for pick up. Get started by submitting a request at www.cc-pl.org/book-care-packages.
