Letter From Our Director

Chantelle Phillips

cphillips@cc-pl.org

As summer begins to wind down and schools prepare to welcome students back, it's time to consider how best to keep our children safe while they are out and about in the world.

First, the library functions as a safe place for youth by partnering with the Brighton Center's Project Safe Place. If a young person lets us know they need help or do not feel safe, we move them to a quiet area of the library and call the Brighton Center to ask for a Safe Place staff member to come to our branch to meet with the youth. You may read more about Brighton Center's Project Safe Place on their website, brightoncenter.com, under the "What We Do" page.

Second, Kentucky offers a tip line for reporting unsafe situations in school (e.g., bullying, weapons, drugs or alcohol, etc.). A student, parent or community member may report a concern by calling the Tip Line at (866) 393-6659 or by completing an online form found at safeschools.ky.gov. The site provides access to instructional videos on how the tip line works for both elementary and secondary students, which makes it easier to have this conversation at home.

Additionally, in 1998, through House Bill 330, the Kentucky Center for School Safety was established, which provides guidance, training and resources to schools throughout the Commonwealth. Under the guidance of a fifteen-member board of directors, whom the governor appoints, the Center for School Safety serves as the central point for data analysis, research and dissemination of information about successful school safety programs. The Center also provides a wealth of information on topics from bus safety to mental health resources to internet safety. Their website even organizes its resources by the role a person plays in relationship to a school: family resource center director, food service director, parent, principal, school counselor and student, etc. At their site, kycss.org, you will also find a link to on-demand training videos that provide guidance for parents as they navigate the ever-changing world of raising kids. There's even a training specific to grandparents raising grandchildren.

Please spend some time reviewing the resources on these websites as you prepare for the new school year. I want to thank you all for spending the summer with us. We look forward to serving our families during the school year by providing educational programs and resources to make the year a success!

This Year's Spotlight Series Brings Exciting State and Local History Presentations

This August, Spotlight Series will feature familiar friends and fresh faces as we learn about different aspects of the history of Kentucky and Cincinnati.

All presentations will be at 7 pm at our Newport Branch (901 E. Sixth St., Newport, KY 41071). Register for the programs at cc-pl.org/spotlight-series-25.

AUG. 7: BENEFACTORS OF POSTERITY WITH DANIEL GIFFORD

The series kicks off with a presentation from Daniel Gifford, author and public historian, on his new book, Benefactors of Posterity: The Founding Era of the Filson Historical Society 1884-1899. The Filson Historical Society, based in Louisville, Kentucky, dedicates a variety of resources to enhance adult education through the preservation of the significant history and culture of the Kentucky and Ohio Valley area. Named after Kentucky's first historian, this longstanding society takes history seriously with collections of original manuscripts, letters, diaries, photographs, architectural records and rare imprints.

Gifford's book and presentation will not only discuss the accomplishments of the Filson Historical Society throughout its 140 years of work, but will also recognize how systemic racism and Jim Crow culture have shaped some of the society's decisions throughout its lifecycle.

AUG. 14: HISTORY OF TRAINS IN KENTUCKY WITH BOB HAMILTON

All aboard Bob Hamilton's train to learn more about the history of trains in Kentucky! He is joining us from the La Grange Railroad Museum and Learning Center, an organization that is fully staffed by volunteers and one that offers a variety of educational experiences for all ages. The museum features railroad exhibits, model railroads, vintage train cars and a 1914 train station.

Hamilton's presentation will also include video footage and a selection of museum artifacts.

AUG. 21: THE UNKNOWN LEGEND OF THE CINCINNATI STRANGLER

J.T. Townsend is returning to the library to present his research on one of the important junctures of Cincinnati's past, Cincinnati's 1966 serial killer. The Queen City is well known for its beautiful architecture, delicious food and professional sports, but, at one point in the 1960s, it was also known as a terrifying place for older women. Townsend dives deep into the Cincinnati Strangler, an unknown force of evil that killed at least seven women and harmed many more.

Townsend is no stranger to investigating the dark side of history as he has given multiple presentations on other mysteries such as Jack the Ripper, Lizzie Borden and the Lincoln Assassination. He captivates audiences with thorough presentations that bring people back in time to these culturally and historically significant moments.

FAVORITE FICTIONAL FRIENDSHIPS

LONESOME DOVE by Larry McMurtry

I'll have to go with the friendship between Gus and Woodrow in Lonesome Dove. They both have huge personalities that can't be more different, but they perfectly complement each other. Together they make an iconic team, and you can imagine how they might be legends of the Old West.

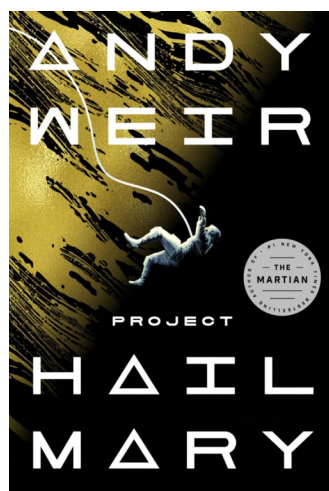

— Randy Warpool
patron services assistant

LORD OF THE RINGS: THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE RING by J.R.R. Tolkien

One may say that Frodo and Sam have the ultimate friendship, but I would say that the fellowship is one big band of brothers. Each friendship dynamic is unique and just as endearing as the last. I won't choose between them. The answer is all of them equally.

— Bekah Napier
branch services assistant

PROJECT HAIL MARY by Andy Weir

Ryland Grace is the sole survivor on a desperate, last-chance mission, and if he fails, humanity and the Earth itself will perish. Except, right now, he doesn't know that. He can't even remember his own name, let alone the nature of his assignment or how to complete it. I love this book due to the fast pace, easily digestible science and fantastic friendship that develops from a common goal deep in space and far away from home.

— Clara Gerner
adult/teen services librarian

STRANGER THINGS

Steve and Dustin in Stranger Things are hilarious together. They make the whole show.

— Dakota Guilkey
information services assistant

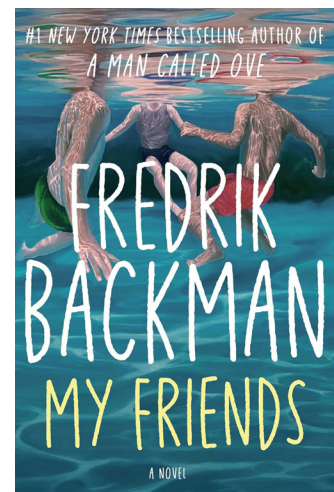

THE HOUSE IN THE CERULEAN SEA by T.J. Klune

This book follows Linus Baker, a caseworker at the Department in Charge of Magical Youth, as he investigates the well-being of the children in Marsyas Island Orphanage. This book was so fun and sweet: reading it felt like receiving a big, warm hug! I love the friendship between each of the children and their caretakers. The recently published sequel, Somewhere Beyond the Sea, is equally full of the kids' wholesome shenanigans!

— Danielle Heiert
adult/teen services programmer

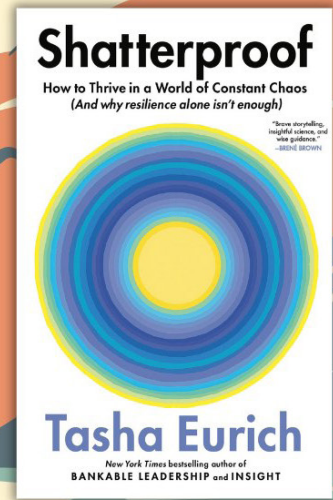

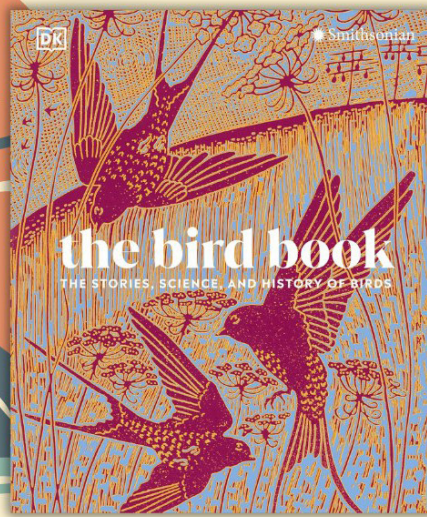

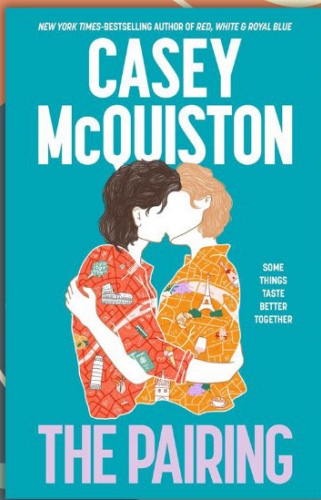

MY FRIENDS by Fredrik Backman

For my favorite fictional friendship, I would pick from a book I just read, My Friends by Fredrik Backman. The book begins by centering around a group of teenage friends in the summer and ultimately leads up to their lives as adults two decades later. I chose this friendship dynamic because, as teenagers, these kids didn't have it easy. However, they were always there for each other and encouraged one another along the way, even into their adult lives.

— Amelia Norton
information services assistant

August

Author Talks Online

August Is for Virtual Author Talks

This month offers three virtual author talks brought to us through our partnership with the Library Speakers Consortium. Join us throughout the month to learn more about science and birds with Dr. Jay Falk, discuss appetites and attractions with Casey McQuiston and learn to stay calm and organized with Tasha Eurich.

All talks are free! Please register at libraryc.org/ccpl.

THE STORIES, SCIENCE, AND HISTORY OF BIRDS WITH SMITHSONIAN BIOLOGIST JAY FALK

Falk, an evolutionary biologist and behavioral ecologist, studies the fascinating diversity that exists in different species of birds. In his talk, he will highlight the history of birds, famous bird stories and specific bird species that truly demonstrate their distinctiveness. Falk will also display the beautiful photography included in his book, which is sure to pique your interest!

Spread your wings and join us for what is sure to be an interesting talk at 2 pm on Tuesday, Aug. 5.

RETURNING TO ROMANCE THROUGH FOOD AND FLIRTY FUN IN FICTION WITH CASEY McQUISTON

McQuiston is a #1 New York Times bestselling author of romantic comedies, and her most recent novel, The Pairing, brings back that familiar enjoyment that fans experienced in her hit novel, Red, White & Royal Blue. In this talk, McQuiston will unpack her most recent book, which intertwines three of everybody's favorite things: love, food and good laughs. The Pairing follows two exes, Kit and Theo, who thought they were done with each other for good after having a terrible breakup, but end up bumping into each other on a lavish European food and wine tour.

Don't be shy to bring an appetite to this thrilling author talk at 7 pm on Wednesday, Aug. 20.

HOW TO THRIVE IN A WORLD OF CONSTANT CHAOS WITH ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGIST DR. TASHA EURICH

Eurich understands that life can sometimes be busy, stressful and downright difficult to manage. However, she has come to say that you don't have to push through and keep waiting for things to get better: you can take life into your own hands and be happy even with everything you have to do. Using the lessons and guides she introduces in her book, Shatterproof, Eurich will teach you how to feel and do better in the face of adversity using scientifically backed techniques.

Become a better, new and improved you with Eurich at 2 pm on Thursday, Aug. 28.

NEWPORT art BAZAAR

Save the date – Newport Art Bazaar returns on Saturday, Nov. 15. Visit the Newport Branch between 11 am and 4 pm to view work from local artisans. The best part? All items are priced at $30 or less. Vendors will be located throughout both levels of the Newport Branch.

Newport Art Bazaar is a great place to get started on your holiday shopping or to pick out a new art piece for your home. Also, be sure to stop by the Friends Book Sale after you're finished stocking up on art and crafts. The book sale will be held 9 am-5 pm on Saturday, Nov. 15 in the lower level of the branch.

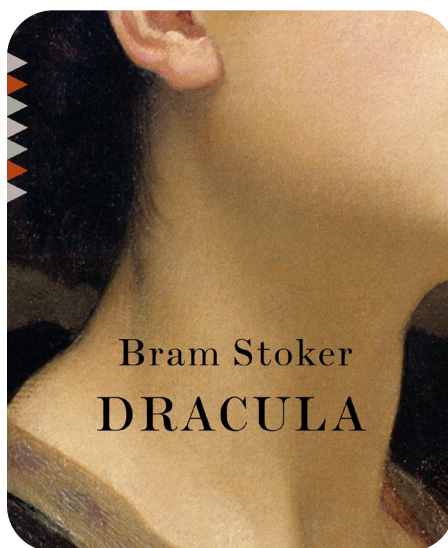

Interested in participating as a vendor? We will begin accepting vendor applications on Monday, Aug. 18. Check our website (cc-pl.org) for more information or contact Cody Elliott, the Newport Branch's adult/teen services programmer, at CElliott@cc-pl.org.

SIGNATURE SERIES

While we can't share all the details just yet, we have some exciting plans for this fall's Signature Series programs. Be on the lookout in upcoming newsletters for information on an author talk at our Fort Thomas branch and also a musical performance at the Newport Branch in the fall. We'll also post updates to cc-pl.org/signature-series.

If you haven't attended one of our Signature Series events before, we welcome you to join us for one (or all!) of our upcoming events. Signature Series has hosted bestselling authors, enthralling performers, internationally acclaimed musicians and more!

FALL INTO LITERATURE: DIGGING UP DRACULA

Sink your teeth into Fall into Literature: Digging Up Dracula, a thrilling three-part series hosted by the Cold Spring Branch. We'll explore Bram Stoker's Dracula and the enduring legacy of vampires in books, film and pop culture.

Beginning in October, the series kicks off with a deep dive into the origins of Stoker's 1897 masterpiece with Northern Kentucky University's Sara Moore Wagner. In November, the library will host a panel discussion on horror special effects and design. We'll close out the series in December with a virtual event featuring film historian Steven Frenzel, who will discuss vampires' appearances in cinema.

Digging Up Dracula offers something for horror fans, literary buffs and curious newcomers alike. Whether you're a lifelong vampire fan or just discovering Dracula's dark charm, this is one program series you won't want to miss.

- 6 pm Tuesday, Oct. 21: Dracula With Northern Kentucky University's Sara Moore Wagner
- 6 pm Tuesday, Nov. 18: Panel Discussion on Horror Aesthetics
- 6 pm Tuesday, Dec. 9: Provocative Vampires in the Movies With Steven Frenzel

CAM CARES

Formerly known as Drop Your Drawers, Cam Cares is the library's annual giving campaign, which provides resources to public schools in Campbell County. In November and December, the library will accept new packages of socks, underwear and other underclothes to donate to schools' Family Resource Centers. Cam Cares donations ensure that children have new undergarments available in case of accidents while at school or due to circumstances at home.

Donated items can be dropped off at any of our library branches.

Story Times Return to the Library This September

Story Times are on a brief hiatus for the month of August, but return to our library branches beginning Monday, Sept. 8. Each branch hosts weekly story times for our young patrons. Story times help to support children's development, encourage early literacy skills and also provide welcoming spaces for socialization. View the upcoming story times schedule at cc-pl.org/events.

The Alexandria Branch has added a new story time to the lineup. Branch Services Librarian Addie Reese hosts a Toddler Time every Tuesday for ages 2-3 at 11:15 am. Your little ones get the opportunity to listen to both fun and educational stories, dance with scarves and shakers, sing songs as a group and more!

Toddler Time attendees can look forward to an exciting, fun and educational story time. "Right now, we sing our songs, get our scarves out and move around," said Reese. "Sometimes, I'll bring out the parachute for the kids to play with during our songs. I try to read at least two stories to the kids, a fun one at the beginning and an educational one at the end. I want to eventually start bringing in color association with the outside world to the story times, and I made an activity box that I'm going to start bringing in, as well."

JOIN A BOOK CLUB

Looking for a fun and rewarding way to read more books and meet fellow book lovers? Consider joining one of our many book clubs! We host a variety of book clubs for every age range and interest.

Book clubs are a great way to explore new genres, engage in lively discussions and share different perspectives. Don't worry if you haven't joined one before—our book clubs are welcoming, relaxed and open to readers of all ages.

New members are always welcome! Visit any of our branches or go to cc-pl.org/book-clubs for more information. We can't wait to read with you!

The Cold Spring Branch welcomes a new book club in August. Adult/Teen Services Programmer Danielle Heiert hosts You've Been Booked, which is open to ages 11-19. It is the perfect place to engage in interesting discussions about books from all types of genres that you help pick out!

Come and join Heiert every third Monday of the month at 3 pm starting Aug. 18. The Kane Chronicles: The Red Pyramid by Rick Riordan is the first book of many to be read in this book club.

We sat down with Heiert to learn more about You've Been Booked.

What was the thought process behind this book club?

Heiert: I used to have a similar book club at the middle school, but I have a lot of teens who are homeschooled that attend programs at the library. So, I really wanted to create a teen book club that was open to teens of all ages that wasn't restricted to the school they went to or if they were homeschooled.

Why do you think this is valuable?

Heiert: Book clubs are a great way to practice critical thinking and offer a place for all ages to socialize. Teens, especially, need more fun spaces outside of their school, extracurricular activities and work. I want teens to have a place to socialize and feel productive.

Also, talking about books with other people is a great way to help with reading comprehension. So even if they didn't like the book, or they struggled to read it, teens may still enjoy talking about those books with other people.

What types of books do you plan on reading and how are you picking the books?

Heiert: The kids are going to pick the books that we read! I'm going to give them an informational packet on several books—some of which I choose and others they suggest—and they get to decide which books sound most interesting to them.

What book will you be beginning the book club with?

Heiert: We're starting with The Kane Chronicles: The Red Pyramid by Rick Riordan. Anyone who knows me knows that I love Percy Jackson & the Olympians, and Rick Riordan is still my one of my favorite authors to this day. In the middle school book club, The Lightning Thief was always the book they kept relating everything back to. I think it's a very accessible book in general, too. So, I wanted to give them something that they may be a little familiar with but was also kind of new.

What are you most excited about?

Heiert: Teens get so excited when they talk about things that they're interested in. So, I'm really excited to see their passion for these books and reading in general. I'm excited to share my passion with them, as well.

If people are unsure if they should attend, what would you say is something about the group that is definitely worth coming for?

Heiert: I would say that if you're unsure, just try it out! If you don't enjoy it, it's totally okay. My book clubs are always open to everyone. If you want to read the book but not attend the book club or just talk to me afterward about the book, then that's also totally fine. I will say, though, that these book clubs are super fun and not formal: we're all friends there. Also, one of the things we do that I really like is starting the meetings with some Blooket trivia relating to that month's book. If they don't have a personal device to bring for this, we have some that they can use if they register for it!

Is there anything else you'd like patrons to know?

Heiert: Yes. The book club is right after school, and I know that can sometimes be difficult for transportation. So, I do have a virtual option available for anyone who's not able to come to the library for any reason. They can join the virtual meeting that I will have set up from wherever.

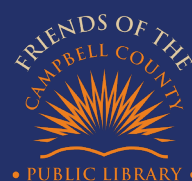

Show Your Library Love and Join the Friends of the Campbell County Public Library!

The Friends of the Campbell County Public Library are a dedicated volunteer group that supports CCPL through book sales and by advocacy for public libraries. Our regular book sales are a great way to get involved—fun to work, fun to shop and all for a great cause!

All proceeds go to purchasing library equipment, funding programming and supporting library staff. Each year, the Friends also award three scholarships to library employees for professional and educational development.

We're excited to join the Cincy Bookstore Crawl Friday, Oct. 3-Sunday, Oct. 5!

Learn more at cc-pl.org/friends-of-the-campbell-county-public-library. Annual membership is $10, or make a lasting impact with a lifetime membership for $100. Applications are also available at all CCPL branches.
